LONG ISLAND CITY MUDDLE.

The Sanford Forces March on City Hall

And Gleason Retires Amid Great Excitement

LONG ISLAND CITY, L I , Jan 21 This morning Mayor Sanford, accompanied by about fifty of his followers, invaded the Mayor's office and made a demand on Gleason to vacate and surrender the books and papers Gleason sprang to his feet and exclaimed "You will not take possession of this office unless you kill me and walk over my body I'm the lawful custodian of the people's rights and I do not propose to surrender this office without an order from the Supreme Court"

At this a number of Sanfordites pushed forward and waving their fists in the air shouted "Put him out, put him out, the big bluffer"

Things began to look serious when Chief of Police Woods, with a squad of men, entered the office and pushed the crowd out Chief Woods said he was here to preserve peace and he would not permit any violence on either side

By advice of his lawyer Sanford then took possession of the City Hall by force

At 11.30 o'clock Gleason vacated the Mayor's office in the City Hall and went to his office in Front street where he said he would continue to transact business as Mayor of the city As Gleason left the office he turned to Sanford and said "Well, you take this office by mob force as you cannot do it by lawful means Gentlemen, if you have any business to transact with the Mayor of Long Island City you can do so by calling at the Mayor's office No 112 Front street, where I shall be every day to transact public business " There was a great deal of shouting and much excitement but no blows were struck

Owing to the Mayoralty trouble, the fire department of the city is in a demoralized condition, two men claiming to be at the head of it In case of a serious fire the city will undoubtedly suffer

THE HOMESTEAD STRIKERS

A Pitiable Appeal for Aid from Ex-Burgess John McLuckie

BOSTON, Jan 21 Ex Burgess John McLuckie, of Homestead, Pa , has written to Frank K Frost of the Labor Leader, an appeal for financial aid in the fight against the charges of murder, conspiracy and treason, preferred against him by the Carnegie-Frick people He says the Amalgamated Association will pay an attorney, but what we want is money to live upon and secure the necessary evidence to convict the fraudulent crowd whom we have had arrested for riot and conspiracy I am out of all, after serving 33 days and have been sick since out of work, out of money, a family to support and on trial for my life—not a pleasant outlook I am thus forced to appeal for aid, as we do not want to lose the legal fight for lack of funds

FALLS INTO LINE

Manchester, N H Street Railway Sold to a Syndicate

BOSTON, Jan 21 A special from Haverhill, Mass., says "It is reported here, to-day, that the Manchester, N H Street Railway has fallen into the control of a syndicate which is buying up various street railways of New England It is understood that the idea is to arrange a continuous line of street railways down Merrimac valley from the New Hampshire lake region to the sea, including the local traffic of Concord, Manchester, Nashua Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and Amesbury, and that as soon as several deals can be consummated the line will go into operation on the biggest scale of any street railway in the world

RAILROAD MATTERS

Conference of Committees Regarding Lease of Connecticut River Railroad

BOSTON, Jan 21 A committee representing the Connecticut River Railroad directors is in town, to-day, and will have another conference with the Boston & Maine people regarding the proposed lease of the Connecticut River road It is thought the agreement will be pushed. A private conference was held here, earlier in the week, with President McLeod present, and though a long and thorough discussion of the plan was carried on, no decision was reached.

ICE IN PENOBSCOT BAY

Revenue Steamer Woodbury Doing Good Service

CASTINE, Jan 21 The revenue steamer Woodbury has just arrived from Belfast, where she found the harbor blocked with heavy ice and several loaded vessels ready to leave. She cut a channel open and a strong current from Passagassawakeag river sent the ice-floe into Penobscot Bay. East Penobscot Bay is clear, but considerable floating ice was encountered on the western side

WINTER CHOLERA.

The new disease of the stomach and bowels so prevalent throughout New England has been named by the medical profession, Winter Cholera Its appearance while the Asiatic Cholera is raging abroad, is regarded as significant, presaging, as it does, an outbreak of the European scourge with the advent of early summer Winter Cholera undermines the constitutions of La Grippe victims, plays havoc with those who escaped that dread disease, and paves the way for typhoid and other wasting fevers. Restrictive immigration bills and quarantine will avail nothing. Cholera germs are being cultivated in thousands of Winter Cholera victims throughout New England to-day. The balmy days of spring and the hot days of early summer will rouse the disease germs to activity. In Winter Cholera conservative physicians see the flaunting of the danger signal The warning has been sounded. The alarm has been sent forth. Cholera, in incipient form, is here. If you would avoid Winter Cholera and fortify the system against the admission of cholera poison, begin an immediate course of treatment with [illegible]DEN'S MAGNETIC COMPOUND.

Winter Cholera and Asiatic Cholera closely resemble each other Both have their origin in a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels; both poison the entire intestinal tract; both exhaust vital energy and reduce the power of resistance to disease. [illegible] Magnetic Compound cures Winter Cholera, destroys cholera germs, eliminates cholera poison from the system, and restores vital energy and strength. Our Compound is sold by all druggists. It costs $1, but is worth its weight in gold. When you call for [illegible] Compound see that you get it. Take no other. Ours is the best.

HIS TRUMPET AND DRUM

What a Journalist Sent for and What He Got

There was a kind of atmospheric disturbance in the vicinity of Washington street and Fifth avenue, New York, the other evening Sounds of a strong man in his agony were apparent, and beautiful language floated out on the air like feathers in a cyclone It happened thusly Right around the corner mentioned are a number of newspaper offices, also a number of newspaper men, journalists and the like Now it came to pass that as the day waned one of the said journalists—he was not a newspaper man, just a plain, everyday, nineteenth-century journalist—wanted to get hold of a poetic quotation or two to work into one of his articles or effusions, as he called it He thought it was one of Eugene Field's bits of fugitive verse he hankered for, but his memory and the office library both failed to help him any in his quest Then he decided to purchase the work, so scribbled a note and [illegible] an A D T messenger, dispatched it The note read -

Messrs Siegel, Cooper & Co Enclosed find $1 00 Please send me by messenger Eugene Field's "Trumpet and Drum "

After the manner of his kind the messenger boy hastened as he was bidden to the book department of the emporium where a deft-handed maiden opened and read his missive, "Toydepartmentpleaseinthebasementtakeelevatorlefthandsidenextcustomerplease," said the d. h. m. and the boy again hastened

And a little later the boy did his celebrated hastening act for the third time, and eventually deposited his purchases on the desk of the journalist. There was a fine, robust specimen of the soul-stirring drum, with two sticks attached which had not been asked for, and had evidently been thrown in as overweight or as an evidence of good faith. Nothing could be alleged, either, against the quality of the trumpet,—but the hastening messenger says the way that journalist "took on" at the sight of the innocent toys was awful

His jaws worked convulsively albeit no sound issued, but his eyes looked unutterable things while his fingers clinched and unfolded as though he were breathing through his hands. Then the boy fled and the journalist fell amid his fellows, who fed him ice and bound up his throbbing brow in the office towel, and brain fever being unlikely, a speedy recovery is looked for.

WHY SUCH BIG FIRES?

Fire Insurance Men Confer with Mayor Matthews

The late disastrous fires have aroused considerable criticism of the Boston Fire Department, and a quiet investigation is being made by certain underwriters of the city These gentlemen are well known to the fire insurance world and are thoroughly competent to take hold of the subject under consideration They are Mr B B Whittemore President of the Board of Underwriters Mr Osborne Howes, Jr the Secretary of the board, Mr George P Field, Mr Alfred M Bullard and Mr John C Paige

These gentlemen had a significant interview with the Mayor on Tuesday, touching the matter in controversy Mr Paige said that the board of underwriters as a board had taken no action whatever in respect to the handling of the recent fires nor could it He said that the gentlemen above referred to were a committee appointed by the board to investigate the subject

He says concerning the interview with Mayor Matthews

"We went there not prepared to make any specific recommendations, to advise that this or that thing be done but to have a calm dispassionate talk on the subject We had it and came away satisfied that some good, at least, would come of it Nor did the mayor say that he would do this or that thing for he was not asked to

The Fire Department has no defence in the way the Hecht conflagration was managed It is all rot to say that the building in which it originated was a bad building It was a modern structure of only eight years standing built by men of means and not dangerous in case of fire To be sure it was not built on the right line of the law and there are not probably fifty modern structures in the country so built The criticism that it was cut off from fighting by hundreds of electric wires is not tenable one for what is true of this building is true of hundreds of mercantile houses in the city The fault was not due to narrow streets for ample space was afforded as everybody knows who is familiar with the locality which is really a public square

If the fire had been confined to the one building it would have been different but we find five buildings laid flat and thereby $5 000 000 of property destroyed It was not extremely cold weather 20 above zero and happening at 8 30 in the morning when everybody was astir and awake

There was no lack of apparatus In fifteen minutes after the fire was discovered there was apparatus enough to have put out two such fires The Boston Fire Department is fully and even generously equipped none better in the country In 1889 I was appointed on a committee of the underwriters to urge the increase of apparatus It was right after the great Thanksgiving fire which destroyed $4 000 000 worth of property The city government responded promptly and fully

No it is not a question of apparatus but, as I have said, one of administration No city in the country is better supplied with water I might go on and enumerate this bill of particulars but the cause of this series of disastrous fires is found in one of them What are we to expect? Is the city to be burned up before our eyes or are we to seek the cause and apply the remedy

Aroostook

Aroostook clergymen seem to roll in clover so to speak Rev Mr Hammond the Universalist clergyman, received a handsome fur coat, Friday night a gift from the ladies of Fort Fairfield Mr Hammond was very much pleased with his nice present

One of the gentlemen in Caribou connected with the C P R R while at the east end of the iron bridge last Friday saw what he supposed to be the tracks of an otter leading from the river up the bank, says the Republican The excited gentleman hurried after one of the employes of the road who has a rifle and they soon reached the spot and were looking at the tracks The man of the rifle after one glance exclaimed in disgust "Otter, yes Nice otter tracks those are being made by Swede snow shoes " It is said to be rather dangerous to mention otter tracks to the party of the first part

Cumberland

A servant girl who recently arrived in Portland from her home in Newfoundland relates a remarkable instance in which she figured as a bridesmaid There were four other young girls besides herself in the second-class cabin of the steamer from St Johns to Halifax During the last two hours before the arrival in the latter city, a man from the first cabin about fifty years of age made acquaintance with one of the girls who was but eighteen It was a case of love at first sight He accompanied the five girls to their boarding house and the next day the couple were married and departed for the groom's home in Seattle, Wash He claimed to be worth $20 000 The affair was not a prearranged elopement for the bride and the above mentioned knew positively that they had never seen each other before that last day on the steamer The bride was starting out to seek her fortune as a servant, with her companions while the man was on a business trip

The milder weather caused some of the ice in Portland upper harbor to break away and during the latter part of Thursday afternoon a large floe containing about two acres drifted down with the tide to a point opposite Custom House wharf This ice was about six inches thick but the tugs cut through it without any great trouble and by this means it was successively divided until it offered practically no impediment to navigation The lower part of the harbor is clear and has been all along, and navigation continues practically unimpeded so far as Portland harbor is concerned

The Portland Transcript tells a pleasant story of Portland's veteran [illegible] Hon W W Thomas and one of his tenants Mr Thomas' house faces on Danforth street, his tenant's on Gray street and the lots join In front of the Gray street house is a pleasant lawn and the premises are separated by a high board fence overgrown by woodbine One beautiful morning in September, Mr Thomas called on his tenant his face presenting a severe aspect, and in a gruff manner demanded why he had trespassed on his ground Denial was of no avail and finally Mr Thomas got the alleged delinquent to come over to his garden on Danforth street Then he was shown how a squash seed on the other side of the fence had sent forth its vines in the premises of the Thomas estate the result being an enormous squash This Mr Thomas had tended carefully and now presented with quiet humor to his surprised friend

ILL TREATMENT KILLED HER

A Respectable Woman the Victim of Police Stupidity and Brutality

Mrs Elizabeth Hewitt left her home in Long Island City, last Friday to visit her son-in-law Edward J [illegible] at No 59 Liberty street New York She came by way of the Thirty fourth street ferry

At the corner of Fifth avenue she fell unconscious into a snowbank About an hour later Policeman F A Pearson of the East Thirty fifth station found her [illegible] and [illegible] giving her the proper [illegible] on the soles of the feet half carried half dragged her to the station house

After an attempt to restore her to consciousness she was put in a cell to "sleep off her jag" the sergeant said The following morning the matron found the woman unconscious but very ill She gave her name as Alice Hughes The matron decided that the prisoner was suffering from something more than liquor and an ambulance took her to Bellevue Hospital Where Dr Stewart attended her Despite his efforts the patient died on Monday and as the hospital authorities had been unable to find her friends the body was taken to the morgue Deputy Coroner Weston held an autopsy and decided that she had died of cerebral apoplexy

In the mean time Mrs Hewitt's daughter and son in law had searched everywhere for her On Monday they went to Bellevue, but did not find the ward in which she was On Tuesday Mr Powers as a last resort, went to the morgue and found her body He had it taken to Mrs Hewitt's late home in Long Island City He was very indignant when he learned of her ill treatment by the police He said that Mrs Hewitt was so strict a temperance woman that she never allowed liquor to be brought into her house Her neighbors all give Mrs Hewitt a good character

Mr Powers will spare no effort to bring the charge of criminal negligence home to the responsible persons It is understood that several members of the Real Estate Exchange are interested in the case and will do all they can to aid him It is said that Supt Byrnes has promised to investigate Policeman Pearson said last night that he would swear that the woman was drunk

"We pick up lots of them round here he said "and I saw nothing different in her case from hundreds of others Sergt Jordan was on the desk when I brought her in, and I know nothing more about her

At the station-house it was said that no especial effort was made to bring the woman to consciousness She was examined in a perfunctory sort of way and then put in a cell It is said that if Mrs Hewitt had had proper treatment she would undoubtedly have recovered

Cost of a Trip to a Fixed Star

Dr David Gill, lecturing recently on "Fixed Stars," hit upon the following adroit method to illustrate the distance to Centauri The doctor said, as reported in the Boston Globe "We shall suppose that some wealthy directors, for want of outlet for their energy and capital, construct a railway to Centauri We shall neglect, for the present, the engineering difficulties—a mere detail—and suppose them overcome and the railway open for traffic We shall go further and suppose that the directors have found the construction of such a railway to have been peculiarly easy and that the proprietors of interstellar space had not been exorbitant in their terms for right of way. Therefore, with a view to encourage traffic, the directors had made the fare exceedingly moderate, viz , first class at two cents per 100 miles.

Desiring to take advantage of these facilities, a gentleman, by way of providing himself with small change for the journey, buys up the National Debt of England, and a few other countries, and presenting himself at the office demands a first-class single to Centauri For this he tenders in payment the scrip of the National Debt of England which just covers the cost of his ticket But at this time, the National Debt from the little wars has been run up from $3,500,000,000 to $5,500,000,000. Having taken his seat it occurred to him to ask—"At what rate do you travel?" "Sixty miles an hour, sir, including stoppages," is the answer. "Then when shall we reach Centauri?" "In 48,663,000 years, sir!"

STOPPED PETERSON'S GAME

Police Officers Arrest a Poker Sharp at the Grand Pacific

A gambling game was unearthed in the Grand Pacific Hotel, Chicago, its promoter arrested and the apparatus confiscated by the police Jock Peterson who represented that he was a Montana mine owner registered at the Grand Pacific about three weeks ago and was assigned to room 400 He advertised to sell mining stock and paid his bill regularly The other morning however Albert [illegible]leigh of No 3 [illegible] street complained to Inspector Ross that he had been swindled out of $[illegible] cash and a watch in a poker game at the Grand Pacific by a man he met on the train and who invited him to the hotel to inspect some mining stock [illegible] and [illegible] went to the hotel to investigate The hotel officials were surprised to learn [illegible] going on in the house and placed Detective Morgan [illegible] the disposal of [illegible] and readily consented [illegible] the search The three officers proceeded to room 400 arrested the alleged mining stock man and then searched the room A quantity of cards [illegible] and $1200 in poker chips were found The cards the officers say are known as "readers" the dealer being able to tell the cards by marks on the back of them Sleigh's watch was found in the possession of Peterson and he was locked up at the Central Station charged with swindling by means of cards

ARTHUR BECKWITH CAUGHT

He is Now on His Way to New York in the Custody of Detectives

Arthur Beckwith the New York [illegible] who escaped from Dr Buell's sanitarium at Litchfield Conn Oct 10 1892 has been captured in Cuba and according to private despatches is now on his way to New York He had previously been found in Cuba and brought as far as Tampa from which he eluded his captors

MONDAY JANUARY 23 1893

The Michigan Senate has passed the bill repealing the Minor electoral law, and there is not much doubt that the House will concur

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Herald now admits that Senator Mills has usually voted with the silver men When the present House was organized the Herald tried to excuse the support given Mr Mills for the Speakership by the Massachusetts Mugwumps, on the ground that the Texan was a sound money man Sound money men do not usually vote with the silver men The Herald stands convicted of misrepresentation by the testimony of its own correspondent

Commissioner Peck of New York, has paid the penalty of telling the truth as Governor Flower has cut his head off Mr Peck committed an unpardonable offence in Democratic eyes when he showed by absolute statistics that the people of the Empire State instead of being ruined by the McKinley tariff were better off after it had been in operation a year than they were before the law was adopted A fact that added to the Democratic indignation was that the figures could not be shaken although numerous efforts were made to weaken the report It is in order for the Governor of Indiana to give the Democratic Commissioner of that State his walking ticket as he [illegible] the same condition of affairs [illegible] report [illegible] so much [illegible]

The Democratic Brooklyn Eagle sharply [illegible] Mr Cleveland that Mr John Randolph Tucker of Virginia is not the kind of [illegible] to become Attorney General of the United States, the post to which rumor [illegible] him. The [illegible] the Eagle gives [illegible] that Mr Tucker who was Attorney General of Virginia before the War of the Rebellion decided that certain [illegible] particularly through [illegible] could not be delivered to subscribers [illegible] they came from the North [illegible] were liable to create a [illegible] among the slaves The man who gave that decision may be the [illegible] but he is not the man to become Attorney General of the United States All the events that have occurred since are [illegible] momentous [illegible] Mr Tucker's mind and Mr Cleveland had better look elsewhere for an Attorney General

Judge Gresham is quoted as saying that Senator Carlisle is a great man, one who knows all about the tariff and [illegible] It is interesting to [illegible] in this connection that Judge Gresham [illegible] for a place in the Cabinet which report may account for the fulsome praise of Mr Cleveland's [illegible] Judge Gresham's political views are always controlled by his personal ambition He has had the Presidential bee in his bonnet for some time and [illegible] any hope of securing the goal by the votes of his alleged opposition to the Republican policy of protection Senator Carlisle may know all about the tariff but if the New York Sun is correctly informed when it says he will favor taxing tea, coffee and sugar, he will find four years hence when the votes of the people are counted that he has lots to learn yet

Senator-elect Murphy is strong in speaking up for himself and Senator Hill as friends of Cleveland He is careful to say that the New York Senators are for Cleveland [illegible] Democracy [illegible] There is a choice [illegible] typical Senator

Senator Hill [illegible] Democratic administration He never opposed anything Democratic in his life He would not know how to do it His training has not been in that direction So far he has devoted the best years of his life to opposing Republican administrations [illegible] Why he helped [illegible] He did more than any other one man in the country toward it because he [illegible] Have you forgotten the [illegible] of the canvass when he made [illegible] speech of all the great speeches made in the campaign at Brooklyn

According to this argument Senator Hill now appears to be in a position to appreciate the ingratitude of mankind It is true that Mr Cleveland does not say much [illegible] newspaper organs give Hill a [illegible] unmerciful hammering nearly every day The simple fact is that Cleveland's election has beyond a doubt removed Hill from the list of possible nominees four years hence

Democrats Opposed to the Navy

The Washington correspondent of the [illegible] under date of Friday [illegible] the following Chairman Herbert and the other members of the sub-committee of the House Committee on Naval Affairs which is preparing the annual appropriation bill were in session today and expect soon to report the bill to the House No recommendation will be made for the addition of any new vessels to the navy In the last appropriation bill the majority of the committee, while [illegible] that more battle-ships should be constructed, proceeded to give at considerable length, reasons why it did not report in favor of an appropriation for constructing such a ship

Notwithstanding the action on the part of the House committee, and the refusal of the Democrats in the House when the bill passed that body to adopt Mr Boutelle's amendment, providing for the construction of a battle-ship, Secretary Tracy, in his annual report, quotes from the report made by Chairman Herbert, at the last session, and comments on it in this way "In pursuance of these views, Congress at the same session authorized the construction of one additional battle-ship, to be of the seagoing type, and provided with a greater coal capacity than those previously authorized"

The Republicans in the House are far from pleased with this extraordinary mistake on the part of Secretary Tracy. Mr Herbert not only reported at that time in these words "For these reasons the majority of your committee have decided that it would not be best now to authorize the construction of another battleship," but he went further and opposed on the floor the efforts of the Republicans under the leadership of Mr. Boutelle to get the House to authorize the construction of such a battleship. It was only because the Republicans in the Senate added the amendment to the House bill and insisted on it that a battleship was authorized at the last session.

Chairman Herbert and his Democratic associates are entitled to no credit, whatever, and it is a puzzle to the Republicans in Congress why Secretary Tracy should have gone out of his way in an annual report to commend the Democratic chairman of the Naval Committee for doing something that he not only did not do, but the entire credit of which belongs to the Republicans. A persistent effort has been made all along to make it appear that the rebuilding of the navy has been due to the Democratic party. When the White Squadron, under Rear Admiral Walker, made its parade along the Atlantic Coast the New York Democratic newspapers took special pains to give all the credit for the construction of those vessels to Secretary Whitney and the Cleveland administration, and yet with one exception and that the smallest vessel in the squadron, all those vessels were authorized by a Republican Congress and the construction of them begun under Secretary Chandler during the Arthur administration

Mr Whitney's attack on John Roach, the builder of those vessels is well known, but still the Democrats are continually seeking to make it appear that the Cleveland administration began the work of reconstructing the navy

Mr Boutelle, who for ten years has been the champion of the new navy in the House, remarked today that not a single vessel has been added to it, with one exception save by the votes of the Republicans and a minority of the Democrats in the House The Senate has been able to compel the Democratic House to agree to the increase of the navy, and if any further increase is authorized this year it will be because the Republican Senate compels the Democratic House to agree to it in the same way as was the case last year

Mr Herbert and the majority of his committee will not report in favor of any new ships They have not yet decided whether or not they will recommend an appropriation for the naval review at Hampton Roads, but they will probably do so, though Mr Holman will fight that item in the House if the committee recommends it

MAINE MAN SUICIDES.

Luther Lovett, of Lincoln Center, Shoots Himself.

BOSTON, Jan. 22. Luther L. Lovett, of Lincoln Centre, Me., committed suicide at his place of abode in the rear of 82 Oxford street, Cambridge, Saturday afternoon. Lovett has been residing with Mrs. Lucinda M. Lovett, a cousin, for the past three months and on several occasions was noticed to act queerly.

Saturday afternoon he went to his room and standing before the looking glass, placed the muzzle of a revolver behind his right ear and fired.

The bullet passed through his head and out over the left ear, causing instant death. Mrs. Lovett heard the fall and discovering what had happened notified the police. Since his arrival he has done but little work. No reason can be given for the act except insanity, with which some members of his family have been afflicted.

IN GOOD CONDITION.

Kennebec Agricultural Society Elects Officers.

WINTHROP, Jan. 21. The annual meeting of the old Kennebec Agricultural Society was held at Readfield to-day and elected the following officers: President, R. H. Jacobs, Mt. Vernon; Vice-President, J. R. Yeaton, Mt. Vernon; J. E. Brainerd, Winthrop; George Keith, Winthrop; Secretary, C. E. Coleman, Readfield; Treasurer, W. A. Lord, Readfield; Agent, C. E. Doff, Readfield; Trustees, H. P. Norcross, Winthrop, D. B. Savage, Augusta, B. P. Stuart, Belgrade, E. H. Keny, Fayette, W. G. Hunton, Readfield. It was voted to abolish family tickets, and issue individual tickets only. The reports showed the society in a flourishing condition.

PENSIONS GRANTED.

Additional to Residents of Maine.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. The following pensions have been granted to residents of Maine:

DEATH IN PORTLAND

Of Judge William Wirt Virgin.

PORTLAND, Jan. 23. Judge William Wirt Virgin died early this (Monday) morning.

Judge Virgin has been ill some time at his home in this city, his illness taking a serious turn recently. He was appointed to the supreme bench December 26, 1872 by Governor Perham and re-appointed in March, 1880, by Governor D. F. Davis. Judge Virgin was a highly respected and esteemed citizen of this city and his death will be deeply mourned. He was an able member of the judiciary and his influence was felt.

DIED INTESTATE.

Queries as to Whether Gen. Butler left a Will Answered.

LOWELL, Mass., Jan. 21. A citation in to-night's Courier answers numerous inquiries made since Gen. Butler's death as to whether he left a will. He died intestate and his son, Paul Butler, and son-in-law, Hon. Adelbert Ames, have applied for letter of administration upon the estate. All persons interested in this application are cited to appear at the probate court in Cambridge on the first Tuesday in February.

ALL USED UP.

Steamers of Fall River Line in Bad Shape.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Jan. 22. The steamer City of Taunton, of the Fall River line, punched a hole in her hull this morning, in trying to make her dock through the ice around ship. Her freight was removed as quickly as possible and workmen to-night are repairing the damage. The steamer Plymouth of the same line smashed the buckets of her wheel and went to Newport for repairs. The steamer Pilgrim has a badly smashed wheel house and is covered with tons of ice.

A VERY LAX MANNER

Of Complying With Law Regarding Sending on Electoral Certificates.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. Certificates of all the states of the votes cast for President and Vice President ought to be in the hands of the President of the Senate by Monday next. Fourteen states have failed so far to comply with the law by sending on their electoral certificates by messengers and many of those states which have complied with the law have done so in so slipshod a manner that if the late election had been in any way close the official ascertainment of the result might have been made almost impossible.

Many messengers purporting to bring on the action of the States have come utterly unprovided with credentials. Kansas was one of the most conspicuous offenders in this respect.

Many packages brought by messengers have had nothing on the outside to indicate their contents. Two States sent their votes to the "President of the United States," instead of to the "President of Senate," and Idaho sent her vote to the Secretary of State.

Many States Failed

to endorse on the package what it contained. Some messengers have been able to say that there was a sealed and endorsed package inside the out envelope. In that case the President of the Senate has opened the outer casing and found the duly certified package inside. In other cases the messengers have said that they did not believe there was any sealed under-package and in those instances the envelopes have been put in the Senate safe and left untouched.

They may contain the electoral vote or they may not. Senator Manderson, of Nebraska, president pro tem of the Senate, in the absence from the city of Vice President Morton, is the custodian of these electoral certificates and he is fully alive to the danger that this lax compliance with the law involves.

AFFECTS ALL COLLEGES.

Foot Ball Association Adopts Important Resolution.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. The Inter-collegiate Foot Ball Association this evening passed a resolution which shuts out from the foot ball teams of the various colleges in the association all graduates, specials and students not properly registered. This action will leave the University of Pennsylvania with not more than four of the players intended to represent the club next year and Princeton will be obliged to do away with the services of the great centre, Balliet, and Yale will lose Graves.

MR. BLAINE.

No Material Change Reported on Sunday.

If Anything He has Lost a Little in Strength.

All was Quiet at the Mansion this Morning.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. Dr. Johnston made an evening call on Mr. Blaine at 9 o'clock and remained about half an hour. On leaving the house he stated that Mr. Blaine was resting comfortably and passed a good day. He anticipated no change for the worst to-night and will not return unless sent for.

Shortly after 10 o'clock the house was closed and the family retired for the night.

Not Much Change.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. Mr. Blaine retains consciousness and does not appear to-night to be better or worse than for several days past. The doctors have noted a slight loss of strength each day. Dr. Hyatt called this morning and Dr. Johnston visited the patient this afternoon.

The doctors visited Mr. Blaine at 9.30 and report no material change in his condition, but, if anything, he is slightly weaker. The house was closed for the night at 11.

No Change.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. 1.40 A. M.—No change is reported in Mr. Blaine's condition.

DASTARDLY ACT OF REVENGE.

Hotel and Proprietor's House in Rome Blown Up by Dynamite.

ROME, Jan. 22. Dynamite bombs were exploded almost simultaneously to-day before the Hotel D' Angleterre and in the garden of the proprietor's house. The hotel was badly wrecked. Every window and every piece of crockery was smashed. Nobody was injured. The proprietor said the hotel and contents were almost a total loss. Not a whole piece of furniture was left in the building. The walls of the houses near the hotel were cracked and all the windows broken.

The proprietor's house in Via San Claudio is less damaged. All the windows were smashed for a hundred yards on every side. Besides the breakage of glass ware, crockery and furniture, little harm was done. Nobody was injured. The proprietor of Hotel D'Angleterre is convinced that both explosions were caused by a man he discharged recently from his service.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Report on the Pinkerton System and Homestead Troubles.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. There is a prospect that at last a report will be made to the House by the special sub-committee of the House Judiciary Committee which investigated the Pinkerton system and Homestead troubles. The report will show that there is an agreement on the facts developed by the investigation and that the members are nearly in accord on the proposition that no legislation on the part of Congress is called for as the result of the investigation.

To Make It a Crime.

Mr. Bacon, of New York, from the Committee on Banking and Currency, submitted to the House to-day, accompanied by a report recommending its passage, a bill amending the statutes so as to make wilful omissions from bank books by bank officials or employes criminal offences. The present statutes leave room for doubts whether omissions to make entries in the books of associations is an offence.

CARS PILED IN A HEAP.

Strange Accident at Chicopee Junction.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 21. As a freight train was passing the depot at Chicopee Junction this forenoon one of the cars left the track for some unaccountable reason and carried a number of rear cars with it. The cars were thrown against the wooden depot in a heap. Fire immediately started in the wreck from a stove in the caboose and the station and two cars were burned. Six other cars were damaged. One man was injured by a falling wall, and several railroad employes had narrow escapes. Tickets and valuables were rescued from the depot.

STILL ICE-BOUND.

All Steamers Late on Long Island Sound.

NEW YORK, Jan 21. The ice-bound condition of Long Island Sound continues to cause considerable trouble to steamboats and other crafts. Most of the big steamboats from Connecticut and Rhode Island ports came down several hours late to-day. The City of Worcester from New London passed around the battery three hours late and carrying tons of ice on her woodwork.

MR. CLEVELAND

Returned from Mr. Hayes' Funeral.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. President-elect Cleveland arrived in the city at 4.35. He was immediately driven to the Liberty street ferry, crossed to Jersey City and took the train for Lakewood.

EVIDENCE INSUFFICIENT

To Find Indictments Against Revolutionists.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 22. The Federal grand jury here has been discharged. No indictments were found against any of the several hundred Mexicans known to have been participants in the recent so-called revolutionary movement, the initiatory steps of which were taken on United States soil, within the jurisdiction of this court. In the final report the grand jury says: "We have carefully investigated all cases of violation of the neutrality law and from all the evidence obtainable we believe the reports as to the late revolutionary movement are greatly exaggerated."

NOVA SCOTIA MINERS.

They Want New England Capital to Assist Them.

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 21. In the assembly this afternoon Premier Fielding introduced the government bill respecting the much talked of coal negotiations. The bill is entitled "An act for the further encouragement of coal mining." There was a full house and crowded galleries. He dwelt upon the great mineral wealth of Nova Scotia and the universal desire that capital might be attracted for its development. He claimed the statistics would show that before the days of the protective policy, Nova Scotia had supplied a larger percentage of coal consumption of the Dominion than now.

It is the government's desire to attract capitalists who would carry on operations on a large scale and they thought it desirable to obtain capital from the New England States, because investors will be able to find a large market for coal there, if the United States should make coal free.

Mr. Whitney, of Boston, and others, acting with him had seen great possibilities of the enterprise and expressed a willingness to undertake working the mines. After a few questions by Mr. Cahan, leader of the opposition, a second reading of the bill was set down for Tuesday.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Inter-State, Stamp and Anti-option Bills in the Senate.

Discussion in the House on the Quarantine Bill.

A Lively Debate on the Question of State Supremacy.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. The House substitute for the Senate bill concerning testimony under the inter-state commerce law was non-concurred in, a conference asked, and Senators Wilson, Teller and Pugh were appointed conferees.

Mr. Wolcott's joint resolution directing the discontinuance of the sale of the Columbian postage stamps was taken up and was referred to the Post-office Committee, after some amusing remarks by the Colorado Senator.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Chandler, of New Hampshire, and agreed to, calling on the Attorney General for a copy of the decision of the court of claims that the first and second specified classes of Indian depredation claims were entitled to priority of consideration under the act of March 3, 1891.

The anti-option bill was then taken up, the question being on Mr. Vilas' amendment to the George substitute, and Mr. George continued his speech till the adjournment, promising to finish Monday.

House.

Mr. Bankhead, of Alabama, chairman of the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, reported back the resolution calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for information regarding the amounts appropriated for public buildings and the condition of the work.

Mr. Scott, of Illinois, in advocating the resolution, said that the 51st Congress had authorized the construction of 75 public buildings and few of them had been even contracted for. The resolution simply calls for information as to the cause of the delay. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Bacon, of New York, from the Committee on Banking and Currency, reported a bill to provide for the speedy redemption of United States currency and national bank notes, which have become unclean and unfit for use. Calendar.

Mr. Outhwaite called up the Senate bill for marking the lines of the battle of Gettysburg. Several amendments are recommended by the Committee on Military Affairs, and these gave the opponents of the measure an opportunity to filibuster against it. The filibustering was confined to the Texas delegation, but it was successful, and the morning hour expired without final action on the bill.

Then the quarantine bill was called up. Mr. Rayner, in advocacy of the measure, said that he thought that the members of the House were agreed on the proposition that something should be done to avoid the threatened presence of pestilence on our shores during the coming summer, and that there should be adopted some permanent plan of protection.

Then Mr. Rayner branched off in a discussion of the constitutional objections which had been raised to the bill, and a colloquy between Mr. Crain, of Texas, and himself gave rise to some excitement and a good deal of amusement. Both gentlemen were extremely sarcastic, and although Mr. Rayner was quicker in repartee than was Mr. Crain, the applause was pretty equally divided.

After brief constitutional arguments against the measure, the bill was read by sections for amendments.

On motion of Mr. Stump (Maryland), an amendment was adopted to the section authorizing the President to detail any medical officer to serve in the office of the consul of any foreign port, for the purpose of furnishing information and giving bills of health. The amendment restricts the authorization of the President to the period during which contagious or infectious diseases are prevalent at such port.

Three Texas members were on their feet with amendments, and Mr. Crain was recognized. He moved to strike out the clause which authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to make the quarantine regulations exist under the authority of a state or municipality which in the opinion of the Secretary are not sufficient to prevent the introduction of contagious diseases into the United States, or into one state from another.

Mr. Bowers, of California, asked whether the effect of the amendment was not to make the state authority paramount to the authority of the United States.

Mr. Crain's reply was to the effect that the state (on a question like this) ought to be paramount.

The amendment was agreed to.

Throughout the day the confusion was very great, and its culmination was reached when an amendment was offered, the reading of which could not be heard 10 feet from the clerk's desk.

To this fact Mr. Dickerson called attention. He added that the bill was an important one and should not be acted upon in a scene of such utter inattention. He therefore moved that the committee (for the bill was being considered in Committee of the Whole) rise.

This was agreed to, and then, on motion of Mr. Raynor, the House, at 5.15, took a recess until 11 o'clock Monday.

The effect of this action will be to bring the bill up Monday.

THEIR LIVES THREATENED

Switchmen Followed by an Angry Mob.

MUNCIE, Ind., Jan. 22. The Lake Erie switching yards, which have been closed for two days, opened this morning and 13 switchmen from Chicago were put to work in the strikers' places. Two hundred men and boys called the switchmen vile names and threw missiles at them. After dinner four of the men quit work. The crowd increased and the switching engines were kept moving. To-night 1,000 men and boys followed the new switchmen to their hotel threatening their lives if they did not leave town.

DELIGHTFUL CALIFORNIA TRAVEL.

The best possible facilities for going to California in comfort and even luxury are embodied in Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb's winter excursions. Their parties travel in magnificent special Pullman vestibuled trains, with dining-cars and every other first-class appointment. The tickets permit the holder to exercise his preferences as to place and time of sojourn on the Pacific Coast, and the date of his return. Four parties are going out in the next two months, and ten parties will return in the spring with special escort, several of them stopping at the Raymond & Whitcomb Grand Hotel in Chicago for a week's visit to the Columbian Exposition. The first two dates of leaving Boston are February 7 and 10. Raymond & Whitcomb, 296 Washington street, will send a descriptive book to any address.

SEVENTEEN LIVES LOST

And Fourteen More Deaths Are Expected to Occur.

Frightful Railroad Wreck in Illinois Saturday.

Many Persons Burned by Explosion of Oil Tank.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 21. A wreck occurred at Wann Junction or Alton Junction, Ills., this morning. The C. C. C. & St. Louis Western limited passenger train, consisting of an engine and five coaches, for the east, ran into a switch half a mile north of Wann Junction and crashed into a train of seven tank cars standing on the track.

The result was a fire and afterwards an explosion which has already cost six lives and fatally injured several more, seriously hurt others and caused great property loss to the company.

Burned by Flying Oil.

ALTON, Ill., Jan. 21. At noon while a large gang of workmen were engaged in clearing away the wreck, flames reached the gasoline tank, which exploded, scattering the blazing oil in all directions. The vicinity of the wreck was crowded with spectators watching the workmen, and they were drenched with oil. Many are reported seriously burned. Jos. Fitzpatrick and Andrew McMillan, section men, were badly burned. Timothy Houlihan, another section man, was so badly burned that his death is expected. It is reported that nearly fifty spectators were more or less injured by burning oil.

Three More Added to the Dead.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 22. The dead bodies of three men were found this morning near the scene of yesterday's railroad disaster. There have been 17 deaths thus far. Fourteen more of the injured will die.

The names of 31 persons were learned who were seriously, if not fatally hurt. More than a score of others sustained injuries of a more or less serious nature.

It was rumored this afternoon that 11 students from Shurtleff College have been missing since the accident.

All efforts to verify the rumor failed. It is feared more bodies may be found.

No trace was found up to 6 P. M. of the runaway switchman, Richard Grattan.

The total loss to the company is between $125,000 and $150,000, which includes an engine, combination baggage and buffet car, twenty oil tanks and freight cars and contents.

CREWS KIDNAPPED.

Outrages Committed on the High Seas

NEW YORK, Jan. 22. A special from Vancouver, B. C., says: Provincial officer McKinnon arrived from Nanaimo, having in custody eight sailors and a sloop belonging to the Coast Seamen's Union. McKinnon arrested the men in the gulf of Georgia. They were charged with boarding the ship Eawnmore and kidnapping the non-union crew.

During the past month several ships in Nanaimo harbor have been raided by members of the Coast Seaman's Union, who forcibly compelled non-union crews to leave their vessels. Among the vessels raided were several flying the American flag.

A GAIN OF ONE.

Ballot for Senator in Washington.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 21. The twenty-fourth ballot for United States Senator resulted as follows: Allen 52, Turner 24, Griggs 27, Teats 9. This is a gain of one for Allen over the last ballot yesterday.

FLORA WALSH DEAD.

The Actress Passes Away in Boston.

BOSTON, Jan. 22. Flora Walsh the actress, and wife of Charles H. Hoyt, the playwright, died at the Parker House at 5 P. M. of pneumonia. She was born in San Francisco 22 years ago.

THREE LIVES LOST

By the Explosion of a Boiler.

GOSHEN, Ind., Jan. 21. The water works boiler at Nappanee exploded this afternoon, killing three men and injuring two others.

FOREIGN NEWS.

James Francis Egan Released from Prison.

LONDON, Jan 21. James Francis Egan, convicted of participation at Birmingham in 1884 in the Irish dynamite plot and sentenced to twenty years penal servitude, was released to-day from Portland prison by order of Home Secretary Asquith, on the ground of ill health.

Khedive Gets Defiant and Europeans Get Anxious.

CAIRO, Jan. 22. The good impression caused by the success of Great Britain's intervention in Egyptian cabinet affairs is giving way to a feeling of great anxiety among European residents in consequence of the almost defiant attitude since adopted by the Khedive. English officials here believe the Khedive's course has shaken the British position in Egypt and endangered the progress of reforms instituted by the British government.

Fire at the Maine State College.

The President's house at the Maine State College was badly damaged by fire and water Saturday afternoon. The fire caught from a candle in the cellar and spread quite rapidly. The alarm was given as soon as possible and water from the college hydrants was soon being thrown upon the fire with such effect that the flames were not long in being extinguished. The hydrants worked perfectly. The loss on the buildings is covered by insurance and there is an insurance of $1,500 on the furniture and clothing.

Service to be Resumed.

The steamer Frank Jones will resume her trips Saturday, March 11, leaving Rockland, weather permitting, at 6.00 A. M., on Wednesdays and Saturdays, for Castine, Sargentville, Deer Isle, Sedgwick, Brooklin, Southwest Harbor, Northeast Harbor, Bar Harbor, Millbridge, Jonesport and Machiasport, arriving at Machiasport at about 6.30 P. M. Returning, will leave Machiasport, weather permitting, on Mondays and Thursdays, at 4.00 A. M., arriving at Rockland at about 5.00 P. M.

This arrangement of two trips will continue until about the middle of May, when the service will be increased to three trips a week.

The Frank Jones connects at Rockland with trains of the Maine Central and at Bar Harbor with the steamers of the Maine Central railroad which connect with its all-rail line for Ellsworth, Bangor, etc.

An arrangement has been made with the Post-office Department by which the United States mails will be carried on the Frank Jones to and from all its stopping places during the entire summer season.

The Pullman service in connection with the Frank Jones will be maintained during the entire season, but with improvements and additions.

New Advertisements.

G. W. Stevens, manufacturer of ladies' and children's underwear, and importer of Hamburgs, has just received from St. Gall one thousand pieces of Hamburg embroideries. See his advertisement to-day.

E. J. Davis & Co. has warm Alaska overshoes of the extra wearing and keep-you-from-having-a-cold qualities.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Columbian stamps are in quite general use.

The steamer Penobscot will leave Bucksport for Boston to-day at the usual hour.

Many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Toole will extend their deep sympathy in the death of their little son, Ralph, which occured Sunday afternoon.

The second athletic contest in the Young Men's Christian Association building, will take place to-morrow night. The admission fee is ten cents.

Madame Janauschek as "Lady Macbeth" will be the only attraction at the Opera House this week. Next week the bright actress Ullie Akerstrom will play a three nights' engagement.

The attempt to drive from Old Town to Bangor in forty-five minutes, which was talked of last week, will not come off at present as the conditions are not regarded as suitable by those who are interested.

Members of the Pine street Methodist society have made up a skating party for this evening at the Bangor skating rink. Members of the Y. M. C. A. will be admitted to the rink this evening on presentation of their membership cards, through the courtesy of the management.

A meeting of the directors of the Orono Pulp and Paper Company was held Saturday at the office of President B. B. Thatcher, on Exchange street. Mr. Thatcher was re-elected president, and a dividend of 2 per cent. on the capital stock, payable on and after to-day, was declared.

William Crowley, son of Mr. J. F. Crowley, met with an unfortunate accident Saturday at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. While jumping from the spring board he struck in such a way that his left leg was broken below the knee and ankle. He was attended by a physician who reduced the fracture.

Street Commissioner Woodbury had the patent sand cart around on the sidewalks yesterday and did a fine business distributing the sand evenly. The machine has been laid aside a long time because it did not work, but Commissioner Woodbury has given it a thorough overhauling and put it in good shape, as was made evident Saturday.

At the People's Praise service at the First Parish church last evening the Orpheus Club gave an excellent rendition of "Dream on the Rhine," "Awakening of Spring" and "Spring's Greeting" and the hymns were enthusiastically sung. The address by the pastor was a practical talk of much profit and the entire service was of much interest.

The Woodland Club has tendered the use of its toboggan slide and lodge at Phillips' Lake to the members of the Tarratine Club and Bangor Whist Club for next Wednesday and quite a large number mean to accept. It is the plan to drive out from the city in private teams and have card playing and lunch at the lodge and coasting on the slide.

Mr. Frank A. Adams received notice Saturday of his confirmation as Recorder of the Municipal Court, and also received his commission. He will not leave the Clerk of Courts office for another week, on account of the illness of Mr. Sweet. Hon. T. H. Wentworth has consented to remain as Recorder this week. Mr. Charles Freeze will take the position left vacant by Mr. Adams.

A tipped over sleigh, an attempted runaway and its prevention by a smart and plucky little woman, attracted much attention on the west end of Kenduskeag Bridge Saturday morning. Though thrown out of the sleigh and the horse dashed upon the sidewalk and around an electric light pole, she clung to the reins and brought the animal to a standstill before aid could reach her.

Mayor Beal Saturday circulated a petition to be presented to the Legislature, asking that the city of Bangor might be granted a charter to dam Kenduskeag stream and construct over the dam a carriageway for public travel, the dam also to be designed for a reservoir to secure the better handling of the sewerage and to hold a quantity of water to be used in case of fire.

Railway Postal Clerk John S. Beck, of the Bangor and Boston run, was taken violently sick with chills and fever Friday evening and was very sick during the night and unable to go on his run in the morning. He took the Flying Yankee for his home in Dedham, Mass., Saturday afternoon. Mr. Beck is subject to occasional attacks of this kind having contracted chills and fever in the army.

Mr. F. A. Owen has been engaged to take the leading part of "Jack Poyntz" and act as stage manager at the production of "School" by Augusta amateurs the latter part of February or the first of March at the Opera House for the benefit of the library fund. Mr. Owen's histrionic talents are well known all over the State and he is sure to give much pleasure by his interpretation of the role.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Bangor Loan and Building Association will be held at the Common Council room, City Hall, to-day at 7.30 o'clock P.M., to act upon the following articles: To hear the reports of the directors and secretary; to elect a president, five directors, treasurer and auditor to serve during the ensuing year and to act upon any other business that may come before the meeting.

Dr. E. T. Nealley has accepted the position of histology at the Maine Medical School at Brunswick. The tendering of the position to Dr. Nealley shows that his talent and information in this branch have met with general recognition. He has been demonstrator at the medical school for a number of years, but now becomes lecturer and director of the laboratory work. It will be necessary for him to be at Brunswick two or three weeks each February.

A meeting of the friends of the Eastern Maine General Hospital Corporation was called for Saturday afternoon at the Common Council room, City Hall building, for consultation, but owing to the small attendance it was decided not to hold it. The fact that another meeting was being held at the same time which demanded the attention of many who would otherwise doubtless have attended the hospital meeting, accounts in a measure for the lack of a goodly attendance.

A number from this city and vicinity intend to go to Portland to attend the piano recitals to be given by the great Paderewski this evening and to-morrow afternoon. Half fare rates are offered on the railroad to those holding concert tickets which can be obtained at the store of M. H. Andrews & Co., on Main street. Paderewski had a triumphal tour through this country last year and promises to repeat it again this year, as the [illegible] of his recitals would seem to indicate.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Emma Seavey, widow of the late Dr. Calvin Seavey, occurred yesterday afternoon at her late residence at the corner of Hammond and Ohio streets and there was a large number of friends present. The floral offerings were very beautiful and appropriate. Rev. S. C. Beach, pastor of the Unitarian church, officiated, and the Unitarian church choir rendered several selections with much feeling. The bearers were Gen. C. W. Roberts, Hon. D. F. Davis, Dr. P. Evans, and Messrs. F. C. Noyes, A. P. Baker and E. F. Adams. Hon. Lysander Strickland had charge of the funeral arrangements. The interment will occur at Mt. Hope.

The Bangor members of the Legislature passed Saturday and Sunday at their homes in this city.

The old Electric Light station on Cross street, is being transformed into a store, a new front put in and generally put in fine shape.

In the report of the county estimates for '93-'94, the item of the expenses of the Commissioners should have been $1,800, instead of $18,000.

The Woodland Club made its fourth trip to Phillips Lake Saturday and a goodly number went. The time was as usual very pleasantly passed on the toboggan slide and in the lodge and the invigorating exercise was much enjoyed.

The lecture room at the Y. M. C. A. building was packed yesterday with men to listen to Rev. G. W. Field, D. D., and hear Miss May E. Jewell sing. No one in Bangor is more popular with our young men than is Dr. Field and Miss Jewell's singing was much enjoyed.

The second lecture by Rev. E. B. Barr at the Central church was well attended, and of a most interesting nature. The music by the Apollo Quartette is a most attractive feature of these popular services. The Willing Workers are to be congratulated upon the success attending their efforts.

Invitations have been received by the members of the Keeley Aid Society in this section to attend the reunion of the North Conway graduates and ladies at Dover, N. H., on January 25th. This invitation is extended to the ladies in appreciation of their efforts in aiding men to take the Keeley cure. Quite a number will probably accept the invitation.

Our Ellsworth correspondent writes that in the Supreme Court the jurors were finally excused Friday afternoon, it being the second day of service. This is probably the shortest term of jury service ever held in Hancock county. Monday and Tuesday Judge Emery will hear divorce cases and a few matters which were referred to the court.

Friday night the Glover buildings at Brownville, owned by Messrs. F. W. Hill and C. D. Stanford, of this city, and occupied by Mr. Baker, were burned, the stable only excepted. The property was considered to be worth $1,500 and there was an insurance of $1,000 in the agency of Mr. W. H. Bradford, of this city. It is not known how the fire started.

The Bangor pastors and the secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association will meet this morning at 8.30 o'clock at the Grand Central Stables and take a turnout for the ride to Woodland, where the greater part of the day will be passed at the toboggan slide. Lunch will be partaken of at noon at the lodge at the slide. The party will return in the afternoon.

Mr. George W. Patten, Maine Central station agent at Hermon Pond, died yesterday at his residence of pneumonia, at an advanced age. He leaves a widow and one son to mourn his loss. Mr. Patten had been station agent there ever since there has been a railroad station and he was a trusted employe of the company and held in the highest respect by all who knew him.

SKATING.

A Most Delightful Winter Sport.

There is no winter sport more health-giving than skating. It is also the most graceful of all out door exercises. In the West nearly every city has its rink and skating has become the rage. At Minneapolis, last week, 10,000 people witnessed the races between Hagan of Norway, champion skater of Europe, and Breen, of St. John, N. B., who holds the American record for one mile.

The sport has taken quite a hold upon the people of this city as evidenced by the crowds who nightly enjoy themselves at the rink on the Hampden road in front of Maplewood Park. The delightful and inspiring music of the Bangor Band, the red cheeks and merry laughter of the maidens and the brilliant rays of electric lights all contribute to the delight of the occasion.

It is a fact not generally known that the Bangor rink is the largest ice rink in the world, being 450 feet long and nearly 150 feet wide, and a track can be made five laps to the mile. The Victoria rink in Montreal, the rinks in St. John, N. B., and the Western rinks have tracks which vary from 12 laps to 20 laps to the mile. The low price of admission, 15 cents afternoons, and 25 cents evenings, in each case including a round trip ride on the electric cars makes one of the cheapest and pleasantest places of amusement in Bangor. In order to give the public a chance to see some crack professional skaters, the management are negotiating with F. C. Breen, of St. John, N. B., who is open to skate any man in the world, barring Hagan, and also with Joe Donoghue, the famous skater of Newburgh, N. Y., who holds the championship of the world for from one to five miles. It is not impossible that the race for the world's championship between Harold Hagan, of Norway, and Joe Donoghue will be skated on the Bangor rink, as it is neutral ground.

Next week the management will give prizes for a three mile race open to all for the championship of Eastern Maine and the Provinces for which entries have already been secured from some of the best skaters in the Dominion. It is hoped that some of the fast skaters in the vicinity of Bangor will be on hand to give the visitors a warm reception and show them that we, on this side of the line know something about skating.

Complimentary to a Bangor Man.

The friends of Mr. John L. Wooderson, the well known comedian, a Bangor boy, will be pleased to know that the success which has attended his theatrical career from the first is steadily on the increase, and in the West—he is now in St. Paul—he is receiving the warmest encomiums. As a token of appreciation Mr. Stuart Robson, of whose company he is stage manager, made him a present of $100 Christmas, while Mrs. Robson also made him a handsome present. The following flattering tribute is clipped from a Western paper:

"Not a little of the success of Stuart Robson's productions is due to the intelligent efforts of Stage Manager John Wooderson. The pretty scenes in "The Henrietta," "She Stoops to Conquer," "The Bachelors" and "Married Life," the splendid and yet modest arrangement of the furniture and trappings in the parlor scenes, the skillful manner in which the sort of home is portrayed and the tout ensemble which seems part and parcel of each stage picture, all tell of the work of a master hand, of one who has studied the world in all its phases and who is equal to every occasion the drama may call for. Such is Wooderson's work all through and it is evident in the humbler, as well as in the parlor and loftier places. In addition to his skill as a stage manager Mr. Wooderson is a most capable actor and would be a worthy member of any great company."

Central Club Reading this Evening.

This evening in the Central Club course Mr. Hannibal A. Williams, of New York will give a Shakespearean reading, and he is sure to give all who attend an evening of pleasure and profit. The play will be "The Taming of the Shrew," and it gives Mr. Williams an excellent opportunity to display his talent and thoroughly masterly interpretation of Shakespeare. Mr. Williams is said to be the best Shakespearian reader in the country and he has a very widely extended reputation. There will doubtless be a large audience present to hear him.

PENOBSCOT INDUSTRY.

"New England Sulphite Digester Company," With a Capital of $500,000.

A meeting of those interested was held Saturday afternoon at one o'clock at the office of Clarence Hale, Esq., No. 30 Exchange street, Portland, for the purpose of forming the sulphite digester company which has been previously referred to in THE WHIG.

The purposes of the meeting were carried out, the company was formed with a capital of $500,000, it was voted to call it the "New England Sulphite Digester Company" and the following officers were elected:

President, N. M. Jones.
Treasurer, Charles Curtis.
Directors, George E. Keith, of Campello, Mass.; Thomas B. Draper, of Canton, Mass.; James S. Turner, of Rockland, Mass.; Charles Curtis, of Newton, Mass., and N. M. Jones, of Howland, Me.
Clerk, Clarence Hale, of Portland.
Secretary, Charles Curtis.

The objects of the company are to manufacture sulphite wood fibre and deal in the same and all other kinds of fibre, wood pulp, paper, wood board, and all other similar products and incidents thereof, including machinery, tools and all necessary supplies; also to acquire and own patent rights relating to the manufacture of sulphite fibre and all the aforesaid articles or to erect, by contract or otherwise, sulphite mills complete; also to own, manufacture, and license others to use, patent digesters and all other similar articles and appliances and to buy, hold and deal in timber lands and all other kinds of real estate, also personal property, patents and patent rights and all other property necessary or convenient for, or incidental to, the carrying on of the foregoing business.

The directors and stockholders of this company are well known as solid business men and the enterprise will, without doubt, be an extensive and thriving one. The stock has all been taken.

A large pulp and paper mill will probably be built very soon by the company. The location will be on the Penobscot river, but the exact situation has not yet been announced. It will be another welcome industry in this part of the State and will be an important business enterprise.

The excellent digester invention made by President N. M. Jones, has been described in THE WHIG, and this pattern of digester seems destined to come into general use, as it has the necessary qualities for work. It has withstood the most severe tests in practical use and has clearly demonstrated its excellent fitness in the manufacture of pulp, which is attaining very large proportions in this State.

AMUSEMENTS.

Ole Olson at the Opera House

"Ole Olson" very pleasantly entertained a large audience at the Opera House Saturday night. The play gives the adventures of the Swedish-American citizen "Ole," who, although his speech is very much and amusingly tangled, has a faculty of appearing at the right moment to aid the oppressed. The role is taken by Mr. Hendricks in a most excellent manner and he furnished a great deal of fun during the evening. His songs and dances were also very taking. Miss Williams as "Genie Dimple" acted with much spirit and danced very gracefully and Miss Hussey's "Mrs. Bridget O'Flannagan" was very funny. Mr. Stine received several recalls after his songs. Mr. Lorraine and Mr. Baker did good service in their respective roles, as did Miss Frances. The other parts were in good hands. The songs by the Ladies' Swedish Quartette were finely rendered and the recall demonstrated that they were fully appreciated.

Janauschek.

It is probable that when the present season is over one of the geniuses who have denominated the stage during the past thirty years will yield to the temptations of retirement. It is therefore fit that the only night of the coming engagement, when a splendid performance of "Macbeth" will be given, should be made a memorable one to all those who retain a regard for the great work of the stage, regardless of where found, and who love to live over some of the great moments of the past. Janauschek's Lady Macbeth, like her Meg Merriles, is a character in which time seems to make no appreciable difference. This great actress will be seen at the Opera House Wednesday evening as Lady Macbeth supported by Edmund Collier, and a strong company of players.

The sale of reserved seats opens at the box office this morning, and the advance mail orders show a generally enthusiastic demand for Wednesday evening's event.

Congratulations in Order.

The Menominee Herald has the following which will be read with interest by Bangor people:

"Captain Fred S. Norcross, of this city has been appointed a member of the military board of Michigan by Governor Rich with the rank of Colonel. The appointment is a superb one and his many friends in this region are much pleased over the Governor's selection.

Colonel Norcross is a son of Colonel Isrea B. Norcross, of this city and has many friends in Saginaw which was formerly his home."

Col. I. B. Norcross formerly resided here and was for years in the hotel business and will be remembered by many of our citizens who will congratulate him and his son on his appointment.

Our Own Folks and Other Folks

Mr. F. B. Nichols, of Waterville, was in the city Saturday.

Hon. J. C. Chilcott, of Ellsworth, was in the city Saturday.

Hon. P. P. Gilmore, of Bucksport, was in the city Saturday.

Judge L. A. Emery, of Ellsworth, was in the city Saturday.

Senator Austin Harris, of East Machias, was in the city Saturday.

Sheriff I. P. Longfellow, of Machias, was in the city Saturday.

Miss Kathrine E. Parker is visiting Mrs. M. P. Pendleton, in Belfast.

Mr. James Haley and wife, of Winterport, were in the city on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Sanborn, of Louisville, Ky., are in the city at the Bangor House.

Mrs. Lena W. Smith, of Waldoboro, is the guest of Mrs. Harry W. Smith, on West Broadway.

Mr. George A. Cleveland leaves to-day on a business trip to Norway, South Paris, Farmington and other places.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Brier, of Belfast, and Mr. Will Brier, of Boston, are visiting at Dr. Gay's on Essex street.

Dr. Oscar E. Wasgatt played at a concert in East Boston last Thursday evening. His violin work is evidently well appreciated in Boston and vicinity.

Mrs. Herbert J. Haynes has been engaged to sing at the First Baptist church and entered upon her duties yesterday. She has a very fine soprano voice.

Mr. G. W. Bernard, representing the Ullie Akerstrom company, is in the city making the necessary arrangements for the coming engagement at the Opera House.

Miss Mary E. Jewell has been engaged as contralto of the Unitarian choir, as a large number will be pleased to learn. Miss Jewell has an excellent voice and she is a decided acquisition to the choir.

Hitch Your Horses.

The ordinance relating to the leaving of horses unhitched in the streets is to be strictly enforced and it will be well for all to remember this fact unless they desire to pay a fine of from $1 to $20. The police Saturday notified all teamsters, expressmen, hackmen and public carriage drivers and such farmers as were in the city at that time that they must either keep their horses hitched or have somebody in charge of the animals. The police will be on the lookout for offenders who will be promptly dealt with. The great majority of runaways has been the direct result of leaving horses unhitched and while considerable damage has been done it was remarkable that it was not much greater. It requires but a moment to secure a horse properly so that he cannot run away and a little attention in this respect will not only prevent the destruction of property but may save life as well.

BEFORE USING.

Every one around Moosehead Lake knows Mark McPheters, not only as a lumberman but as a lover and owner of good horses, and his recommendation given below will be of value. He has a hundred horses in the woods this year.

SHIRLEY, Dec. 27, 1892.

G. M. FOGG.

DEAR SIR—Your Balmut is great stuff. I have used five applications on my horses and I don't know now that I ever had lame knees; in fact, I think they are as well as they were before La grippe settled in them. I received your $25. lot of powders, etc., and am using them at all of my camps with grand good results.

Respectfully yours,
MARK McPHETERS.

The funeral of the late Mrs Eliza J Cochran was held yesterday afternoon from the family residence on Union street It was attended by a very large number of people Rev J I Crosby the pastor of the First M E church officiated in a feeling manner and some appropriate musical selections were rendered by the Brewer Quartette The bearers were Capt Hopkins Capt Weeks Mr A H King and Mr J E Swett The interment was made at Oak Hill cemetery

The rising and falling of the tide plays havoc with the slips at the ferry way The one on the Bangor side is a single one and is always in correct position, but on the Brewer side of the river the slip is composed of two parts and they are thrown into awkward postures by the movements of the ice occasioned by the tides Friday night the ice got caught so that the water overflowed it near the end of the slip though not to any great depth The lower slip is in such a position as to make quite a step necessary to pass from it to the upper one

At about 7 o'clock Saturday morning Brewer's water supply ceased to come through the pipes An investigation on the part of the water company showed the bursting of the main at North Brewer, near the point where a similar accident caused trouble some time ago As a result of the break people had to resort to wells for what water they used during Saturday and business that is dependent on the holly water for power had to cease Superintendent Sparks put his crew at work and the fracture was mended so that the water supply was turned on again at about 12 o'clock Saturday night

HIS WILL TORN IN FRAGMENTS

Could Not Find the Signature, but the Surrogate Believed it Correct

NEW YORK Jan 16 Marion F Rodgers, sister of the late George D Long, ex-paymaster in the United States Navy, and W St Clair Long, his brother, appeared before Surrogate Ransom this morning and protested against admitting to probate the will of the deceased.

Long was declared insane on August 28, 1891, and sent to the Government Hospital for the insane, at Washington. He made a will on November 13, 1889, and on August 27, 1891, he tore it into strips. The fragments were found in his trunk at the Asylum and were pasted together. His signature could not be found.

In the will he gives the children of his deceased brother, Andrew K. Long, and to those of his sister, Mrs. Rodgers, each five shares of the stock of the National Loom Company. The remainder of his estate, consisting of stocks and real estate, he bequeathed to his friends, Chas. H. Seymour and Dr. Edward Kershner he appointed executors, and the latter testified that Long had told him that he did not want a cent to go to his relatives.

The protestants declared that Long was of unsound mind; but the Surrogate decided that as a will had been made a year previous to his becoming insane, to admit the will [illegible]

CHAPTER XXVIII.

GOODBY

Neither one of us looked the other in the face

So far as I was concerned myself I had come to port but I had still Alan, to whom I was so much beholden on my hands and I felt besides a heavy charge in the matter of the murder and James of the Glens On both these heads I unbosomed to Rankeillor the next morning walking to and fro about six of the clock before the house of Shaws and with nothing in view but the fields and woods that had been my ancestors and were now mine Even as I spoke on these grave subjects my eye would take a glad bit of a run over the prospect and my heart jump with pride

About my clear duty to my friend the lawyer had no doubt, I must help him out of the country at whatever risk; but in the case of James he was of a different mind

Mr Thomson said he is one thing Mr Thomson's kinsman quite another I know little of the facts but I gather that a great noble whom we will call if you like the D of A [the Duke of Argyle] has some concern and is even supposed to feel some animosity in the matter The D of A is doubtless an excellent nobleman but Mr David timeo qui nocere docs If you interfere to balk his vengeance you should remember there is one way to shut your testimony out and that is to put you in the dock There you will be in the same pickle as Mr Thomson's kinsman You will object that you are innocent well but so is he And to be tried for your life before a highland jury on a highland quarrel and with a highland judge upon the bench would be a brief transition to the gallows

Now I had made all these reasonings before and found no very good reply to them so I put on all the simplicity I could In that case sir said I I would just have to be hanged — would I not

My dear boy cries he go in God's name and do what you think is right It is a poor thought that at my time of life I should be advising you to choose the safe and shameful and I take it back with an apology Go and do your duty and be hanged if you must like a gentleman There are worse things in the world than to be hanged

Not many sir said I smiling

Why yes sir he cried very many And it would be ten times better for your uncle (to go no further afield) if he were hanging decently upon a gibbet'

Thereupon he turned into the house (still in a great fervor of mind so that I saw I had pleased him heartily) and there he wrote me two letters making his comments on them as he wrote

This says he is to my bankers the British Linen company, placing a credit to your name Consult Mr Thomson he will know of ways and you with this credit can supply the means I trust you will be a good husband of your money but in the affair of a friend like Mr Thomson I would be even prodigal Then for his kinsman there is no better way than that you should seek the advocate tell him your tale and offer testimony Whether he may take it or not is quite another matter and will turn on the D of A Now that you may reach the lord advocate well recommended I give you here a letter to a namesake of your own — the learned Mr Balfour of Pilrig — a man whom I esteem It will look better that you should be presented by one of your own name and the laird of Pilrig is much looked up to in the faculty and stands well with Lord Advocate Grant I would not trouble him if I were you with any particulars and (do you know I think it would be needless to refer to Mr Thomson Form yourself upon the laird he is a good model when you deal with the advocate be discreet and in all these matters may the Lord guide you Mr David

Thereupon he took his farewell and set out with Torrance for the ferry while Alan and I turned our faces for the city of Edinburgh

In the meanwhile Alan and I went slowly forward upon our way having little heart either to walk or speak The same thought was uppermost in both — that we were near the time of our parting and remembrance of all the by-gone days sat upon us sorely We talked indeed of what should be done and it was resolved that Alan should keep to the country biding now here now there but coming once in a day to a particular place where I might be able to communicate with him either in my own person or by messenger In the meanwhile I was to seek out a lawyer who was an Appin Stewart and a man therefore to be wholly trusted and it should be his part to find a ship and arrange for Alan's safe embarkation No sooner was this business done than the words seemed to leave us, and though I would seek to jest with Alan under the name of Mr Thomson and he with me on my new clothes and my estate you could feel very well that we were nearer tears than laughter

We came the byway over the hill of Corstorphine and when we got near to the place called Rest and be-thankful and looked down on Corstorphine bogs and over to the city and castle on the hill we both stopped for we knew without a word said that we had come to where our ways parted Here he repeated to me once again what had been agreed upon between us — the address of the lawyer the daily hour at which Alan might be found and the signals that were to be made by any that came seeking him Then I gave what money I had (a guinea or two of Rankeillor's) so that he should not starve in the meanwhile, and then we stood a space and looked over at Edinburgh in silence

"Well goodby," said Alan and held out his left hand

"Goodby" said I, and gave the hand a little grasp and went off down hill

Neither one of us looked the other in the face, nor so long as he was in my view did I take one back glance at the friend I was leaving But as I went on my way to the city I felt so lost and lonesome that I could have found it in my heart to sit down by the dike and cry and weep like a baby

It was coming near noon when I passed in by the West Kirk and the Grassmarket into the streets of the capital. I let the crowd carry me to and fro, and yet all the time what I was thinking of was Alan at Rest-and-be-thankful, and all the time there was a cold gnawing in my inside like a remorse for something wrong.

The hand of Providence brought me in my drifting to the very doors of the British Linen company's bank.

[Just there, with his hand upon his fortune, the present editor inclines for the time to say farewell to David How Alan escaped, and what was done about the murder, with a variety of other delectable particulars, may be some day set forth.]

THE END.

A Queer Looking Coffin.

Hezekiah Shepherd, an aged and eccentric citizen of Davis county, Ia., was recently buried at Drakeville, in the same county, in a coffin built in exact imitation of the easy chair in which he had sat for years. — St. Louis Republic.

AGRICULTURAL.

The State College Course

We are glad to announce the opening, on the 7th of February, of a short course in agriculture, at the Maine State College It is designed for those who have not had the advantages of recent discoveries in agriculture and who desire to prepare to keep in step with the progressive movements which the light of experience and exigencies of the times show to be necessary, owing in part to past mismanagement because of a lack of knowledge of fundamental facts and principles The course will run ten weeks, and cover agricultural chemistry, animal industry dairy husbandry horticulture, veterinary science agricultural engineering entomology and business law This is a comprehensive course, but by the close of ten weeks, we doubt not the attentive student will be both surprised and pleased with the amount of his acquirements Admission to the course requires only a common school education, with no formal entrance examination The practical farmer can step right in and reap all the advantages The dairy and horticulture will be specially taught to those who desire to vary the course in that direction Board and rooms will cost three to four dollars a week Rooms, as far as possible, will be furnished at college, but mostly the dependence will be upon accommodations in Orono, one mile away Tuition is free The college offers besides this one, two and four year courses in agriculture

Butter Market

The Maine Farmer says The opening year is showing a good outlook for the butter makers While prices for the winter months thus far have been strong and steady and with hardly enough offered to supply the weekly consumption, now that midwinter is but just upon us the make is growing in still less supply and the frozen butter in Boston is nearly used up In consequence of this combination of conditions a substantial advance in price is the result, and jobbers are now holding for a price that has not before been thought of for the winter With a short supply at this midwinter time and the held butter substantially used up there can be no question, but high figures will rule for some months to come

Maine dairymen with their cows fresh in milk are in for good returns and are now as right with their winter dairying Feed and care for the cows well and they will give good returns for it No stock business stands by a farmer and his farm in a long run better than the well cared for dairy cow This has long been the case in the past and never promised better for the future than at the present time By the way this is a good time to stock up with cows On account of the short supply of hay they can be bought at reasonable prices Even the pure bred stock has become so plentiful as to bear no selling value above the reach of any good farmer There never was a better time to start up a dairy business

Composting Muck or Peat

Prof Ward of Boston gives the following method of treating muck

The best plan for preparing the muck for manure is to dig the peat or swamp muck in the fall In the spring of the year let this be mixed with the proportion of twenty pounds of soda ash to every cord of fresh dug peat stirring thoroughly the peat dug out and allowing it to lie for the [illegible] [illegible] This soda ash is to be dissolved in water and the pile evenly wet with the solution The pile is then to be well shoveled over and used as other manure Or if preferable to use the lime and salt mixture take one cask of lime and one bushel of salt slake the lime with the brine made by dissolving the salt in water (the brine to make a stiff paste with the lime which will not be quite sufficient to dissolve all the salt Mix all the materials then well together and let them remain together in a heap for ten days, and then be well mixed with three cords of peat Shovel well over for about six weeks and it will be fit for use

|---|---|---|
| 90 lbs of soda ash will cost | | $1 80 |
| 1 cask of lime | $1 00 | |
| 1 bu of salt | 50 | |
| Labor mixing | 25 | |
| | | —$1 75 |

Which will be the cheapest to use to neutralize the acid of the peat and ferment it will be for each to decide according to his location Cow manure varies in quality according to what is fed and whether to growing milk or fattening stock will its value be Peat or muck also varies in quality but the quality is more easily determined by sight than the quality of cow manure even if the product of the cow for one year should be worth more than $45 as has been stated by Mr Sessions, and not yet contradicted by him

Value of Corn

The New England Homestead Farmers who are buying corn to feed should bear in mind that all corn is not of equal value Nor is seventy pounds of corn always equal value We are now speaking now not of the different amounts of cob that there may be in the samples nor of the amount of chaffy cob or grains, or of the difference usually recognized by farmers when buying corn The point we wished to make is that corn grown on land rich in nitrogen as for instance clover seed has more feeding value pound for pound, than corn grown on old lands that have been worn out by successive crops It must always be borne in mind that it is the nitrogenous or albuminoid or in other words, flesh forming qualities of corn or any other grain that give it special value and hence corn grown on clover sod is worth more than corn apparently as good grown on old ground We have frequently heard farmers who buy corn from different parties claim that one lot of corn seemed to do the hogs no good — while they attened on another sample apparently no better The facts above stated we think go far to explain the reason and whether our readers agree with us or not it is at least worth thinking about in buying grain to feed

How to Buy Seeds

When you want new seed peas, put one from the stock into your mouth and bite it If it is very hard it is more than one year old If the teeth enter it with moderate ease it is a new seed New carrot seed always has a green shade on it Old seed loses this, and is of a dead pale brown, and less fragrant New parsnip seed has a shade of green which it loses if more than one year old Onion seed is more difficult to prove than most other seeds, but if you take a single seed at a time and carefully bite it you will find that the old seed has a tough, dry skin, with a very white kernel, while new seed has a more tender, moist skin, and the kernel possesses a greater degree of moisture, and is somewhat oily The seed may be cut with a penknife instead of bitten Onion seed that has no vitality at all has no kernel or one perfectly dry Test this by pressing the seed on a piece of white writing paper If it leaves no moisture on the paper it is of no use, and has been tampered with, or has lost its vitality by age New cabbage and broccoli seed possesses a pale green shade in the kernel when pressed out or cut and a tinge of green in the brown skin also But old seed loses this in proportion to its age because of a dull, dark brown Cabbage, broccoli, kales, etc, will retain their vitality longer than any other seeds and will grow well when three years old, or even six years, if well kept Beet seed has a faint tinge of pale green if new, but is a dull brown if old and then its vitality is very doubtful New celery seed has a faint tinge of green, and is very aromatic, but it loses the green and becomes less fragrant if more than one year old Lettuce seed is of a bright, silvery gray if new, and the kernel has a green tinge with it, both of which it partially loses with age Lettuce seed will grow very well two years old, but above that it is doubtful The black seeded varieties can only be tested by the color of the kernel which is the same as in the white seeded

Cultivating Colt Courage

A horse that is naturally courageous may be made cowardly by abuse If he often receives blows the fear of them is uppermost The man who abuses his horses is often rewarded by the destruction of his property and injury to himself, the result of runaways It is hardly saying too much to assert that if the colt is properly treated it will never run away The horse should be trained not broken and training requires firmness, mixed with much kindness The man who has no control over his own temper and whose judgment is warped by anger is not fit to train a colt The basis of courage is confidence and the first point is to secure the confidence of the colt The next is to make the colt sure of his surroundings Watch closely and whenever he shows fear of anything allow him to smell of it If he has confidence in his trainer this will not be difficult If he shies at a stump or rock ride or drive him up to it Drive him nearer and nearer the cars until he is no longer afraid of them Have the whistle sounded when his head is turned toward it and repeat this till he ceases to start at the sound Handle his limbs and touch them with a strap until he no longer strikes

The courageous horse the one with spirit trained not broken is the horse that to a then [illegible] work [illegible] is not lazy [illegible] to exert itself to the utmost It is the one with trained spirit with fine temper that does the most work the least harm and [illegible] quickly and intelligently

Political Knowledge

"A nation of [illegible]?" observed [illegible] There is not enough real knowledge of politics and politicians in the entire country to keep a man from being ashamed of this land of the free when ever he thinks of it said John G [illegible] of New York to a crowd in the [illegible] corridors You don't believe it? Let me ask you a question or two Now here is a crowd far above the average in general knowledge of politics and yet an Englishman would be ashamed to possess as little knowledge of the politics of his country as we do here Who were the candidates for president of this great and splendid country of ours at the election just gone by? All of you answer Cleveland and Harrison but only five or six say Weaver and one man alone says Bidwell That's all No other candidates Didn't you know there were other candidates one of whom got three times as many votes in New York as Weaver Didn't know it His name is Wing Never heard of Wing — Simon Wing the socialist?

And yet you call this a nation of politicians! Can any man in the crowd name Bidwell's running mate Or even Weaver's No And the most thoughtful campaign in the entire history of the country has just closed No sir we are a nation of superficial pretenders We glance hurriedly through the papers to a sufficient extent to talk glibly about one or two of the principal candidates in the great race and think we know it all We would not even know the shibboleth of each of the great contending factions if it was not hammered into our head every day for months at a time It makes me tired. — St Louis Globe Democrat

In Jail When Elected to the Legislature

From the legislature to jail is not an unheard of thing in the history of state governments but in going from jail to the legislature Judge Lane, presiding judge of the county court of Cass county Mo will have rather exceeded the record

Judge Lane is an official resident of one of these Missouri counties sweating under the burden of a great railroad debt The duty of the judge was to have levied a tax to meet interest on these bonds but leaning in his sympathies toward the taxpayers he refused For this he was sentenced to jail by a United States judge While in jail the populace, relieved of an impending financial stress by his action nominated him for representative on the Democratic ticket He accepted hired a type writer and conducted his campaign by mail in such a manner that he led his ticket by several hundred votes His term as judge expires Jan 1 and he will step out of jail directly into the state assembly

In this position he will probably be expected to retaliate against the railroad corporation which indirectly caused his incarceration — Chicago News Record

In the past few years Hood's Sarsaparilla Calendar has become such a favorite that the people anticipate its annual appearance with pleasure The Calendar for 93, which is now before us, will fully satisfy every expectation as to beauty and utility It is a little larger than ever before, and bears a beautiful picture of the "Young Discoverers" with a pad below in plain figures, all printed in harmonious and pleasing colors To be appreciated it must be seen Get a copy of your druggist or send 6 cents in stamps to C I Hood & Co, Lowell, Mass

I was a sufferer from catarrh for fifteen years, with distressing pain over my eyes I used Ely's Cream Balm with gratifying results Am apparently cured — Z C Warren, Rutland, Vt.

I suffered from a severe cold in my head for months and could get no relief. Was advised to use Ely's Cream Balm. It has worked like magic in its cure. I am free from my cold after using the Balm one week, and I believe it is the best remedy known. — Samuel J Harris, Wholesale Grocer, 119 Front St., New York.

CHILDREN CRY FOR PITCHER'S CASTORIA

A FIGHT BETWEEN GIANTS.

Bold, desperate, but determined! The King of Medicines in contest with the King of Maladies! Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery against "Consumption!" It is not the struggle of a day, but the first blows are the fatal blows In its early stages, Consumption (which is Lung-scrofula) will yield to this great remedy. This has been proven beyond a doubt, by innumerable successes! Acting directly upon the blood, its scope includes all scrofulous affections, Liver and Lung diseases. As a blood-purifier and vitalizer, it stands unequaled.

RECOLLECTIONS.

What a blessed thing is memory! How it brings up the pleasures of the past and hides its unpleasantness! You recall your childhood days, do you not and wish they would return? You remember the pleasant associations while the unpleasant ones are forgotten Perhaps to your mind comes the face of some friend It was once a pale, sad face It showed marks of pain, lines of care It seemed to be looking into the hereafter, the unknown future And then you recalled how it brightened, how it recovered its rosy hue, how it became a picture of happiness and joy Do you remember these things? Many people do and gladly tell how the health returned how happiness came back, how the world seemed bright They tell how they were once weak nerveless, perhaps in pain certainly unhappy They tell of sleepless nights restless days, untouched food unstrung nerves And then they tell how they became happy, healthy and strong once more You have heard it often in the past, have you not You have heard people describe how they were cured and kept in health? You certainly can remember what it is that has so helped people in America If not listen to what Mrs Annie Jenness Miller who is known universally as the great dress reformer says "Six years ago, when suffering from mental care and overwork I received the most pronounced benefit from the use of that great medicine Warner's Safe Cure" Ah now you remember Now you recall how many people you have heard say this same thing Now you recollect how much you have heard of this great Cure Now you are ready to admit that memory is usually pleasing that the highest pleasure comes from perfect health, and that this great remedy has done more to produce and prolong health than any other discovery ever known in the entire history of the whole world
